SATURDAY, MAY 20, 1876.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

Yesterday the contest on the case of the Government printer was continued. A Washington dispatch states that the subcommittee on Expenditures in the Treasury Department, investigating the bureau of captured and abandoned property, is of the opinion that Bristow's course has been correct. But in the administration of his predecessors, Richardson, Boutwell and McCulloch, especially in that of the latter, the committee find an inexhaustible bunch of evidence of the most startling character. Thus far there is an unexplained deficit of over $6,000,000. Sixty-seven thousand dollars are charged against S. H. Kaufman, who was at that time the Clerk in charge of the Attorney's account, and he will be called upon to explain what he did with the money.

A San Francisco dispatch states that the Pacific Mail steamship Colorado arrived yesterday morning from Hong Kong and Yokohama with 888 more Chinese. There was no marked demonstration on their landing.

In the U. S. Senate yesterday Senator Mitchell submitted a resolution instructing the committee on Commerce to inquire into the extent and condition of the salmon fisheries in the Columbia river in Oregon and Washington Territory, and report a bill for the regulation of such fisheries and for the protection of artificial hatching on said river. Adopted.

Sargent called up the Senate bill granting a site for an observatory to the Trustees of the Lick Observatory of the University of California. The amendment, providing that if the land granted be used for any other purpose than the said observatory it shall revert to the United States, was agreed to and the bill was passed. A Washington dispatch of yesterday states that the House Committee on Foreign Affairs has not yet finally acted on the report of the subcommittee investigating Gen. Schenck, but are agreed that, while he was not himself guilty of intentional wrong, he was a party with others in a speculation which resulted in a great loss to British subjects, and that his being a Director in the Emma Mine was altogether improper and incompatible with his position as Minister to the United States.

Recent rains have made the Centennial grounds a sea of mud. The railroads East of the Mississippi have made half-rate fares to the Centennial Convention.

While we are enjoying the midst of temperate climate, our friends in Nevada county are lamenting their climatic situation. The Grass Valley Union of the 17th, says that on Monday night there was a particularly severe frost there, and some damage has been done. The thermometer, the previous morning at 4 o'clock, stood at 32 degrees above zero—the freezing point. Ice was formed, but it was very thin. Some peaches and apples have been hurt, and grapes in that vicinity have been quite seriously injured. The wind was cold and from the Northwest pretty much all day. Winter seems to be very fond of the lap of Spring this year.

ALUDDING to the Senator from California, who misrepresents Nevada, the Reno Gazette remarks that not only has he distinguished himself by registering his name as from Nevada, but tells how the Senator's generosity went further. That paper says: "He has sent his special car back to us, his constituents, and with it came Ah Ki, his confidential Chinaman. This kindness has made the Senator very popular with the masses. Please state the case entire, in justice to SEARON." The Grass Valley Union remarks: "We don't see that the Sagebrushers can ask anything more of their Senator; they ought not to insist on his leaving his comfortable San Francisco home to attend to those public duties which his office puts upon him."

Wiggin's Railroad Record.

Certain parties who are inimical to the Southern Pacific Railroad and indifferent to the prosperity of Southern California, are denouncing Congressman WIGGIN's course on the railroad question and using their influence to prevent his nomination for re-election. This is unfair and unjust. Mr. WIGGIN has acted in this matter in accordance with the wishes of the great majority of his constituents. He devoted considerable time to obtaining information on railroad issues in this part of the State and he left for Washington fully impressed with the fact that the great desideratum of Southern California was a Southern transcontinental railroad at the earliest possible moment and he was expected to do all in his power to hasten the completion of this much needed thoroughfare. Now we challenge his opponents and enemies to point out a single act of his that can be twisted into antagonism to this wish of his District. He has not devoted his energies to the procurement of the three hundred and fifty million dollars subsidy to Colonel Scott's Texas Pacific scheme, and it is a matter for congratulation that he has not. To accede to the demands of the Scott party is to impose a liability of three hundred and fifty million dollars on the people, and give an exclusive franchise to a company that require a series of years to build a road which the Southern Pacific Railroad Company are building without subsidy and will have completed before the subsidy party would have laid a rail, even had Congress voted the subsidy. Southern California demands the early building of the road and all fair minded men must concede that our Congressman has left untried no means in his power to comply with the demand.

Sinners Coming to Repentance.

And now comes Senator MITCHELL of Oregon, and pleading guilty to former dereliction, gives the Prodigal SARGENT a word of encouragement in his assumed effort at reformation. The arguments of Senator MITCHELL are stronger than those of the Senator from California in support of his resolution. It is very well but not consistent, for these gentlemen are both going back on their former record. We are willing to give credit where credit is due, but we are often prompted to think that in some cases the maxim, "Tis never too late to mend" is a mistake. In discussing the Chinese question the San Francisco Examiner remarks that "It is impossible for us to understand that it was the intention of the Creator of us all that the inferior races of mankind should drag down those of a higher order of being to their own level. The Radical theorists do so believe, and the actions of their party plainly indicate their intention, if not thwarted, to practically illustrate their views in that direction. The threat of some of the radical journals that if we endeavor to make the Chinese plague a party issue, their party, being in power, will do nothing for the relief of California from its blighting effects, does not intimidate us in the least. The truth of history must vindicate any hazard, and the radicals will strive in vain to escape the verdict of the future on this score." The action of the Republican party with GORHAM and SARGENT at the head of the Republican party have imposed the curse upon us, and have heretofore preached the "universal fatherhood of God, and the universal brotherhood of man." This was a catch phrase for gaining Radical votes, and at the time it captured the support of many extremists. We do not believe that in the inception of the movement there existed a particle of sincerity in the original promulgators of the doctrine. It was not love for the Chinese, but a desire for votes on this coast that suggested the idea of the BURLINGAME treaty. That the Chinese are adroit, no one can deny, and we find that in the East one or two educated representatives of the Mongolian race have been arguing before some of the humanitarian associations their admissibility into national fraternity on a religious ground, alleging that they believe in God and that their worship of idols is merely a form—that they are but symbolic of the idea of Deity. Let that go for what it is worth. We are not opposing the Chinese on that account, but from a humanitarian point of view in regard to the effect of their presence upon the welfare of the white man, and their influence upon the moral as well as the financial condition of the masses. We do not take this stand from a factious or demagogical view, but as a matter of self-protection. We do not think the matter needs further argument. Messrs. SARGENT and MITCHELL have covered the ground. We will wait the result of their good effort, though tardy and, we fear, insincere.

The Democracy.

The Colusa Sum of a recent date remarks that "the Democrats in the National House of Representatives are badly in want of a leader. An army of invasion had as well anticipate success without a General-in-Chief as for a political party to expect to achieve a victory without some recognized leader. While there is generally wisdom in the council of the many, it is still true that where each of the many want to do something, the wisdom of the council is more than neutralized. In BLAINE the Republicans of the House have an able leader, and they recognize him as such; but every Democrat in Congress seems to think he is the exact man for a leader, or at least that he is too big a man to follow. Our members of Congress seem just now to have the investigation mania very badly, and while it is very right and proper in itself, the Republicans actually seem to be turning it against the leading Democrats." With the most of these remarks we fully agree. The acquisition of the strength of the Democrats in the lower House was not occasioned by accident, but gained simply by the expression of popular indignation at the monstrosity of Radical corruption, and yet while it is true that under the impulse of the moment men of however great intelligence may be too impetuous in an honest endeavor to correct an evil, sometimes evils are so great that a systematic remedy cannot be immediately applied. In such cases we must do the best we can. If a man receives an injury from which he will bleed to death in ten minutes unless an immediate remedy is applied we cannot wait for the presence of a surgeon a mile off for the application of a tourniquet, but will take a piece of common twine or any other available appliance to save life. It is true that upon the coming of the Democracy majority in the House they discovered an herculean task before them, and as in every other extremity they honestly and patriotically went about their legitimate business, simply did their duty in a hasty manner, it is true, but the disease demanded immediate treatment. It is true again that no problem can be solved without system, and no reform can be attained without a gradual and calmly digested method for obtaining a remedy. The Democracy during the last four years, taking the country over, as well as in Congress, have done nobly. The organization is fast becoming developed in a positive shape, and in view of this fact our contemporary is correct. There must be a head to everything, and never before did our party so much need a discreet leader. We cannot find fault with the present state of things, for it is an established fact that there never was an evil that had not its remedy. We beg our anxious friends to let their souls be possessed of patience. Everything will come out right in the end. We have plenty of material to select from.

A Good Endorsement.

Nothing gives us greater pleasure than to recognize the fact that the information received from Boston to St. Louis indicates thoroughly that TILDEN will be the choice of the Democracy. When such men as GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS, who has always been a consistent Republican of the most radical stripe, concedes that Mr. TILDEN will be the hardest man to beat, we cannot fail to accept such testimony as quite conclusive, and he is not alone in this sentiment. Many of the old time leaders of the Republican party recognize the handwriting on the wall, and accepting the situation, wish that Mr. TILDEN may be the coming man. The Democracy will receive a large addition to their ranks from the honest Republicans—and there are some—if our favorite candidate is nominated. Mr. CURTIS remarks that TILDEN is one of the most accomplished politicians in the country; "is the one conspicuous Democrat in the country who is known as a reformer, has at present complete ascendancy in his party in New York; and his chance for the Presidential nomination of his own party to-day is very much better than that of any other Democrat, and there is no man in that party for whom a dissatisfied New York Republican could so easily vote."

THE MONGOLIANS.

Senator Sargent's Bill to Limit the Number of Emigrants.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Senator Sargent introduced to-day the following important bill to restrict the immigration of Chinese to the United States:

Be it enacted, etc., That no master of any vessel owned in whole or in part by citizens of the United States, or by citizens of any foreign country shall take on board such vessel at any port of the Chinese Empire, or at any other foreign port or place whatever, any number exceeding ten Chinese passengers, whether male or female, with the intent to bring such passengers to the United States, or shall bring such passengers within the jurisdiction of the United States.

Sec. 2. Whenever the master of any vessel taken on board of the same at any foreign port, or place, any greater number of Chinese passengers than is prescribed in the first section of this Act, with the intent to bring such passengers within the jurisdiction of the United States, he shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and shall, for each passenger so brought on board, be fined $100, and may also be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months.

Sec. 3. The Master of any vessel arriving in the United States, or any of the Territories thereof, from any foreign place whatever, at the same time that he delivers the manifest of the cargo, and if there be no cargo, then at the time of making report or entry of the vessel pursuant to law, shall, in addition to the other matters required to be reported by law, deliver and report to the Collector of the District in which such vessel shall arrive a separate list of all Chinese passengers taken on board of his vessel at any foreign port or place. Such list shall be sworn to by the Master in the same manner as directed by law in relation to the manifest of cargo; and in the refusal or neglect of the Master to comply with the provisions of this section he shall incur the same penalties, disabilities and forfeitures as are provided for refusal or neglect to report and deliver manifest of cargo.

Sec. 4. The amount of the several penalties imposed by the foregoing provisions shall be a lien on the vessel violating these provisions, and such vessel shall be liable thereon in any Circuit Court of the United States where such vessel shall arrive. Sec. 5. Informers shall be entitled to one-half of any penalty or fine collected under the provisions of this Act upon their information.

Sec. 6. Nothing herein contained shall be held to repeal or modify any law forbidding the importation of coolies or of females for immoral purposes into the United States; provided, that no consul or consular agent of the United States residing at any port from which any vessel carrying Chinese passengers may take her departure, shall grant the certificate provided for in Section 2122 of the Revised Statutes, for more than ten Chinese passengers on any one vessel.

Sec. 7. This Act shall take effect from and after the 1st of September, 1876.

Winter still lingers in the upper country. It is reported that snow is ten feet deep on an average at Meadow Lake, four feet deep at Ossaville and about two feet at Carlyle, and the pack trains will not be able to go for a month to come. There is no doubt, there will be a big excitement at Meadow Lake as soon as the snow goes off. A large number of old time Meadow Lake residents are returning already. We are content in the enjoyment of fine summer weather, and condole with our friends at the North as the snow vanishes we predict a resurrection in the Valley District. Capitalists are looking anxiously toward that locality.

EASTERN NEWS.

Schenck and the Emma Mine.

NEW YORK, May 19th.—The Evening Post's Washington special says that the Democratic members of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs held a conference to consider the report of the special committee on Gen. Schenck's connection with the Emma mine. It has leaked out that they agreed that the report should not only censure Schenck, but the Administration as soon as his connection with the affair became known. The President Schenck's Fish are censurable for not being fully informed on the subject. If this report is insisted on by the Democratic members the Republicans will bring a minority report. While the latter are willing to acquit Schenck of any intentional wrongdoing, they will join in a report condemning his connection with the scheme as an act of impropriety, but will not consent to any report censuring the Administration.

Immigrants.

NEW YORK, May 19th.—The returns of the number of immigrants landing at this port continues to show a marked falling off from other years. The total for 1876 so far is 29,619, being 19,252 less than for the same period last year.

Republican State Convention.

NEW YORK, 19th.—Arrived, steamer Goetha, from Hamburg. Sailed, steamer Alexandria, for Liverpool, and Arcadia for Glasgow.

There is some abatement to-day in the excitement about the control of the Pacific mail. It transpires that nearly the whole of the Panama Board of Directors are in the movement for the control of the Pacific mail. It is also stated that this party will secure, if they have not already, more than half their pile of the hundred thousand shares, and will vote on it on the thirty-first instant.

Serious Accident.

Thursday evening as Judge Brunson and wife were driving out, the buggy upset and the occupants were thrown violently to the ground. This morning Judge Brunson was still delirious, but was believed to be out of danger.

Dr. W. T. Lucky and his daughter, Miss Mamie Lutky, leave to-day for their Eastern trip. A goodly number of their friends assembled at the Kimball Mansion last evening to wish them bon voyage. ## The Fryer Process.

An exchange states that Mr. Robert Fryer has received intelligence that his process for reducing ores has been granted a patent in Prussia. In that country an invention which secures protection by letters patent must not only be new but also meritorious. Most rigid investigations and examinations are made of inventions sought to be protected in that kingdom by men who fully understand the business; by men who are theoretically versed in the matters to which the invention refers. It is well known throughout the world that Prussia has adepts in working metals who are unsurpassed in any other country. Receiving a patent from that kingdom, accompanied as it is with especial marks as to the novelty and efficiency of Mr. Fryer's invention, is no small recommendation.

Merriam and Ralph Leonard have formed a copartnership, and have entered into the business of dispensing confectionery to the public of Los Angeles, as will be seen by advertisement in another column. Ice cream, soda water and other refreshments of the times and the season are always on hand and ready at call. Their promptness and politeness are sure to give them success in their enterprise.

This is the season when a retreat to suburban shades is the most desirable recreation. It is the season for picnics and anniversary celebrations, and instinctively our citizens will look about our city for the most eligible location. Armand & Rutger, proprietors of the Round House gardens, have put their grounds in the most perfect condition, and the resort is daily becoming more popular than ever. All who visit the grounds or patronize this firm will receive the finest satisfaction. All should bear the Gardens in mind when getting up excursions and picnics. m15f

A change of seasons is now upon us, and everybody desires to seek comfort during the summer solstice. Next to temperate habits, suitable clothing conduces most to the enjoyment of life. D. Harris, of the Quincey Hall clothing store on Main street, has a stock of every variety that he can gratify the very taste on the lowest market cash prices. All who wish to make good bargains should call at Quincey Hall. tf

A very successful operation was performed on Thursday by Dr. Collier, assisted by Drs. Lindley and Dalton. Some three years ago Mr. Wm. Scott, of this place, received a compound fracture of the lower jaw, and suffered greatly from the broken bone. On Thursday the operation of removing the bone was effected, and a large piece was successfully extracted, relieving the patient, who is in a fair way of recovery.

We gladly announce that the Ladies' Aid Society of the St. Athanasius Episcopal Church will hold their fair and festival during the next week in June. Any ladies who are not members of the society and who desire to make donations, can do so by addressing or sending their contributions to Mrs. H. K. S. O'Melveny, or to the Rector, the Rev. Mr. Hill.

Los Angeles is a great country, and prolific. Its developments are progressing prodigiously. There seems to be a peculiar enthusiasm among our citizens in a certain direction, and among them our fellow citizen Jerome Gammon. A bottle of the best Heide sick presented to this office indicates that a ten pound baby made his household glad yesterday. There is no gammon about this.

Dr. Kurtz extracted a ball from the thigh of Jose Sancio yesterday. A few days ago Sancio, who is a Basque, and lives about ten miles from the city, had a quarrel with his neighbor about a cow, and the latter shot him; the bullet entering at the upper part of the left hip. Dr. Kurtz sought for a long time for the bullet, but at last found it about a foot below where it had entered.

The case of the old lady Eulalia is becoming complicated. A writ of habeas corpus in behalf of her daughter Higuera was before Judge O'Melveny yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The whole thing will probably turn on the competency of the old woman. It is rightly held that if she is of sound mind she cannot legally be restrained of her liberty, and as she seems bent on going to the Centennial, she will probably gratify her desire.

Hong Wo, a Celestial laundryman, who keeps a wash house on Spring street, has been engaged in a matter of landscape gardening which is likely to get him into trouble. He formed a miniature lake on his premises from the pure and limpid spring water, and the neighbors being unable to appreciate Hong Wo's aesthetic taste complain of the lake as a nuisance. The case will come before Justice Gray.

Looking back thirty or forty years ago we will remember the happiness of our hearts when a holiday or vacation was announced. The children of our town seem to have the same experience, for yesterday morning the American flag appeared on the staff in front of the school-house on the hill, probably in honor of the closing of the schools. We pre-um teachers participate in a slight degree in this feeling. A little rest is not unwelcome to this, the hardest worked class in any community.

THE BROTHERS WORKMAN.

Burial of William Workman yesterday by the same Masonic Lodge that buried David Twenty-one years ago.

Twenty-one years ago, the members of Los Angeles Lodge No. 42, F. and A. M., went out to the Puente ranch and with fraternal hands, laid in the last resting place, all that remained on earth of their late brother, David Workman. Yesterday the same Lodge, and many of the same members visited the same ranch, and in the same burial ground performed the last sad rites for David's brother William. Of the two brothers now sleeping so gently in the Puente churchyard, a few words may be said. They were English gentlemen of the OLD SCHOOL.

And were held in high esteem by their associates of early days in California. The Workman brothers were natives of Peurith, Westmorland, England. Many years ago David came to the United States and settled in Howard county, Missouri, where his sons Elijah and William, now residents of this city, were born. In time he induced his brother William to come out from England and together they engaged in the Santa Fe trade which they followed for about twelve years. After which, David returned to his family in Howard county, Missouri, and William, in company with B. D. Wilson and John Rowland, father of ex-Sheriff William Rowland, started on a trapping and hunting tour westward. In time they found themselves in Los Angeles valley, and in 1841,

ROWLAND AND WORKMAN

Located on the Puente ranch, where both made their home until called hence by death—Rowland dying some years ago, and Workman on the 17th instant. David Workman, who was two years the senior of William, came out to California in 1849, and after remaining a while, went back to Missouri but returned to this valley in 1853 with his family, and in 1855 was thrown from his mule and killed in Stanislaus county while driving a herd of cattle Northward.

WILLIAM WORKMAN,

Whose remains his Masonic brothers laid in the tomb on Friday was a man of untarnished honor, cultivated mind and sterling worth. He possessed many endearing traits which won for him the esteem of all with whom his social and business relations brought him in contact. He used his great wealth in alleviating the wants of the distressed found worthy and in assisting those he believed deserving. Of late years he had a troubled life, for maintaining almost all the time within the confines of his home. His old time friends and others who visited his house speak of him as a princely old gentleman, whose hospitality was as generous as his domain was extensive. Except to those who saw him at home, he was

A STRANGER TO SOCIETY.

And though possessed of a vast fund of information and fine conversational powers, he evinced no inclination to go out among his fellow men. He made the Puente ranch his earthly home. It was his world, and when he realized through the failure of a business having furnished fifty-five thousand dollars with which to give it life that home was lost, the hitherto even tenor of his closing days was disturbed and clouded, and when the arrival at the place of a receiver, forced the conviction that the cherished and idealized home was gone forever, the GOOD OLD MAN'S HEART BROKE.

And in the insanity of despair he threw away the few days that under other and brighter circumstances he might have remained on earth. It was a sad ending of an honorable life, and around no grave have the brotherhood more earnestly and feelingly uttered the words, "Peace to thee, my brother," than at the final resting place of William Workman yesterday.

William Workman.

Obsequies of a Distinguished Citizen—A Sad Funeral—A Large Cortege Pay their last respects—Honor to a Good Man.

On Thursday evening last came the startling intelligence to the people of Los Angeles that one of ablest and most esteemed citizens had quitted this life by his own hand. Mr. Workman was a member of the former banking house of Temple & Workman but never was actively engaged in any of its management. A short time ago the bank failed and since that time many complications have arisen which have caused a great deal of talk, but the climax was reached when the news arrived that Mr. William Workman was dead.

Mr. Workman was a prominent citizen as well as a respected Mason and the Lodge was convened at the Hall at 10 o'clock A. M. yesterday, and after opening ceremonies the Masonic Brethren went down to the depot and from there they were conveyed to the residence of the lamented brother at Puente. They numbered about 125, and were under the following officers: S. C. Coy, W. M.; Sam. Prager, S. W.; John Jackson, J. W.; J. M. Bassett, Secretary; S. Meyer, Treasurer; Capt. Kidd, S. D.; M. Ryan, J. D.; Rev. A. W. Edelman, Chaplain. The following members were then appointed as pall bearers: J. B. Winston, Frank Burns, J. D. Bicknell, Chas. Prager, E. E. Hewitt, C. Bush, A. Ellis, J. E. Hollenback, H. Hauch acted as Tyler.

After the usual impressive ceremonies, the coffin containing the remains was conveyed to the hearse, the brethren forming in line and preceding the cortege. About one quarter of a mile from the ranch a picturesque chapel, which shows its front from out the willows which encircle the grave, and at its enclosure, a large crowd numbering perhaps 200 had awaited the arrival of the procession. The coffin was brought in and then the solemn rites of the Masonic burial service were celebrated, the coffin lowered and William Workman was laid in his last resting place. The weeping willows will wave and the wind moan a sad requiem until the last trump shall sound.

The Opera.

In an operative season the music of Flotow's productions is as much a necessity to the completeness of enjoyment as is good wine at a hospitable entertainment. It has peculiarities that can never fail to captivate, and of his works, all of which are in the highest degree meritorious, artists have selected Martha as the favorite, and popular sentiment has endorsed the choice; and the company that now favors us with their presence were particularly happy when they placed it in their list of performances. This was testified to by the largest and most fashionable audience that has as yet been in attendance during the season at Turn-Verein Hall. There is Flotow's music a vivacity, gracefulness in movement and force, without marring the beauty of the melody and harmony, that can but please the most fastidious and refined, and last evening full justice was done to the author. Even at the first the audience was captured, and an enthusiastic call before the curtain at the end of the first act was the reward of the performers. In the second act Miss Elzer rendered her part with a spirit that evinced both her appreciation of the spirit and sentiment, and her capability to give them expression in an artistic manner. The quartette after the contract between Harriet, Plunkett, Nancy and Liozel was warmly received, and was admirably rendered. The scene at the spinning wheel was excellently performed—in the third act, and the very best success and in response to a general demand, and for the benefit of Madame Fabbri, the opera will be reproduced on Sunday evening. A crowded house is a certainty.

We had no idea that the little word "interpolation" was of such potency and could be extended to such a length as to crop the animals in a neighboring establishment, and excite their vindictive and inherent ugliness. We asserted that "the Last Rose of Summer" was an "interpolation" in the opera of Martha, and we adhere to the statement. It was sung at least eight years ago, the words and the present music being the same; and many a fond memory clings around this incident. Tom Moore, Ireland's favorite poet, sang it also in the same music, and it is but robbery of the nearest sea of the sea to rob him of this graceful feature of his career. Such an act is but characteristic and is wholly unwarranted. There hundreds, nay thousands in this community who can testify to hearing the same air and the words accompanying forty years ago, and the opera was written by George Thomas, and there is not a passage in the score of the opera that indicates a solitary strain from the beginning that is in any manner similar to it. Any one even with shorter ears than those who say other wise, if they have any music in their souls can testify to this. The best heard opera. As to the other remarks of a contemporary, we have but to say in a word that the spirit evinced is more characteristic of a charlatan than of a respectable journal. A slurring allusion to typographical errors is no answer to a statement of fact, nor no argument to correct an accidental error. "Miss Adelaide Phillips," by all who ever had sufficient journalistic experience to become acquainted with that artist or any others of her contemporaries, is always mentioned in the familiar and kindly manner in which we all, both in the public print or social intercourse. Her artistic skill and womanly graces have won for her the kindest regards of the entire press of the country, which has always, from the beginning of her career, given of her every enterprise, the good and courtesy. We have seen both Amadio and Carl Fornes play in the role of Plunkett, but we did not say at the same performance. The elder Amadio died a few years since, and his brother, several years younger, made his appearance with Kellogg and Hinkley shortly after as baritone. We do not take back a word we have uttered on this subject.

SCHOOL EXHIBITIONS.

Yesterday at the High School the classes of several grades passed their examination before the vacation of three months. The various rooms were more than filled, by pupils and their friends. Great interest was taken in the exercises by the parents and other visitors. All of the departments showed a degree of proficiency that reflected great credit upon both the teachers and pupils. While in all of the rooms the exercises were enjoyable, we were particularly pleased with those in the department of Miss Hawks. The classes in Geometry and Algebra were in a high degree proficient, showing that the principal teaching those branches is both attentive to duty and thoroughly competent. As a whole, the exhibition reflected the commendation of all of the visitors who were present. The singing of Miss White was excellent, and the audience as well as the pupils could not refrain from a slight breach of propriety, by giving her a token of applause. Our city may be proud of both the high condition of the pupils, and the good condition of our schools. The schools examined were the Junior and Middle classes of the High School, Miss Hawks teacher; the First Grade grammar class, Mrs. C. B. Jones; second grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; third grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; fourth grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; fifth grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; sixth grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; seventh grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; eighth grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; ninth grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; tenth grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; eleventh grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones; twelfth grade, Mrs. C. B. Jones.
